

Community Guidelines

Etiquette

No abusive language.

Moderators and Customer Service are there to assist you, not to be abused.

All posts and links to be in English, and the end-links to also be English (don't link to non-English sites that members will not understand).

Do not give out personal identifying information of other people without their prior consent, doing so may result in your account suspended or banned.

Timeline & Questions

The timeline is for general chat, but feel free to ask questions also. However, you will be financially rewarded if you post questions as a Finance question.

Spam will be removed, continued spam may face temporary bans or community account removal.

Groups

Only create sensible Groups that you will use, extras will be removed.

Most used groups will receive a monthly reward (flair, tip-group leader)

Saving Tips

Put as much information as possible, follow up to questions if you are able.

Don't use this space as a self advertising section.

Finance Questions

Put as much information as you can, so that others can assist you properly.

Single words, or nonsensical questions will be either queried or removed.

Expert Profiles

Only create an Expert profile for yourself, extra ones will be removed.

Personal contact information is not essential, as members can contact you via the community. Put short but succinct information on your area(s) of expertise.
